FIELD ARCHERY

Field archery is an exciting and enjoyable part of archery. In Australia, World Archery Field is practiced by Archery Australia.

A World Archery Field course is made up of 12 targets, which are usually shot twice in a day giving a total of 24 targets for the day. They could be same 12 targets which are shot twice or there could be two separate 12-target courses.

The field course is set out usually in a bush land setting with target set either up and down hill, across slopes over creeks and to add to the challenge in light and shade.

World Archery Field can be shot using either marked or unmarked distances. Marked field is the most popular style of field archery practiced in Australia.

There are four different size target faces used in World Archery Field archery; 15cm, 40cm, 60cm and 80cm.

The 60cm and 80cm targets are presented as single face and all the archers in a group shoot their 3 arrows at the single target.

The 15cm and 40cm target faces are presented as multiple faces 4 in the case of the 40cm and 12 for the 15cm.

Targets are shot from as short as 5m up to 60m with each equipment division shooting different distances to match the equipment limitations.

Scoring

The same general rules of scoring that apply for target archery apply for field archery, except the scoring values of a target are different.

Equipment

Archery Australia recognises six different equipment styles for field archery

- Recurve (Freestyle)
- Compound (Freestyle)
- Barebow Recurve
- Barebow Compound
- Longbow
- Crossbow

Categories

All usual shooting categories are recognised in Field Archery, Open, Master, Veteran, Veteran Plus and Youth categories 20 and Under, Cadet, Intermediate and Cub.
